Appendix 1: National Job Listing Sources and Scholarly and Professional Associations

Websites That Include Job Listings of Interest to Scholars in All Fields

The Chronicle of Higher Education/Chronicle Careers www.chronicle.com/jobs
Print copy published weekly (49 issues per year)
202-466-1000; 202-296-2691 (fax)
The Chronicle has been the newspaper of higher education for more than forty years. Articles cover all aspects of teaching, research, administration, and student life. The focus is on American higher education with additional coverage on the rest of the world. Grant deadlines, upcoming scholarly conferences, and book reviews are included. The Chronicle also publishes an annual report on faculty salaries.

“Chronicle Careers” has extensive listings for faculty and administrative position announcements from institutions worldwide, although primarily from those in the United States. In addition there are several Career Forums that focus on such topics as interviewing, balancing work and life, the tenure track, and leaving academe, and allow readers to share experience and advice. See “Career Talk” for a monthly column by Julia Miller Vick and Jennifer S. Furlong.

Diverse Issues in Higher Education (formerly Black Issues in Higher Education)
www.diverseeducation.com/
Print copy published every two weeks (26 issues per year)
800-783-3199, 703-385-2981; 703-385-1839 (fax)
This resource covers a wide range of issues in higher education and how they affect African Americans and minorities. An annual special report covers careers in higher education, including salaries. Many pages of each issue are devoted to faculty and administrative position announcements from institutions across the United States and abroad.

Science Careers (formerly Science’s Next Wave)
www.sciencemag.org Produced by the American Association for the Advancement of Science, this resource includes job listings (life sciences, physical sciences, engineering, and related areas), career discussion boards, articles on all aspects of the job search and on being a career scientist as well as on leaving bench science.

Selected Scholarly and Professional Associations

Many associations include job listings in association newsletters that once were printed but now are, for the most part, Web-based. These can also include grant deadlines, information on conferences, news of members, and short news articles. Some associations have a separate job listing available to members and nonmembers for an additional charge. Sometimes job announcements are password-secured for association members.

For each association listed here you will find the association name, URL, contact e-mail address when available, discipline(s) it serves, information about job listings, time of the annual convention, convention placement services, and title of its discipline-specific handout on job hunting if there is one. If the organizations relevant to your discipline are not listed here, consult the annual National Trade and Professional Associations of the United States (there is an online version available for a fee), the Scholarly Societies Project, www.scholarly-societies.org, or your advisor.

Academy of Management

www.aomonline.org; placement@aom.pace.edu Management
Placement services are available on the Web. If you do not have a membership, enter as a guest. With membership, you can post your resume and teaching preferences. The convention is held in August. In order to attend, membership is required. Placement services (interviewing space) are made available during the convention.

African Studies Association

www.africanstudies.org; aseaed@rci.rutgers.edu African Studies
ASA News is issued three times a year. The annual conference is held in November.

American Academy of Religion

www.aarweb.org; aar@aarweb.org
Religious Studies, Theology
Openings: Employment Opportunities for Scholars of Religion is issued 12 times a year to members of the American Academy of Religion and the Society of Biblical Literature and made available online. The annual meeting is held in November (weekend before Thanksgiving). Employment Information Services Center provides interview space. Interviews are set up by employers and candidates.

American Anthropological Association

www.aaanet.org; placement@aaanet.org Anthropology
Anthropology News is issued 9 times a year to members. Placement Service Notes, 10 issues per year, includes job listings. Jobs are also listed online. The convention is usually held in November. Job listings (free for members) are posted and candidates can apply at the convention. Space is provided for convention interviewing.

American Association of Anatomists

www.anatomy.org; exec@anatomy.org
Anatomy
The online Career Center lists faculty positions and several other career opportunities. Members receive the AAA Newsletter, which is published quarterly and also contains career opportunities. The annual meeting is held in the spring.

American Association of Immunologists

www.aai.org; infoaai@aai.org
Immunology
AAI maintains several Training and Job Opportunity Lists, including faculty positions, posted on the Web site. The AAI Newsletter, published 5 times a year, also lists job opportunities. The print version is free for members; the archive is available online free of charge. The annual AAI Meeting is held in May.

American Astronomical Society

www.aas.org
Astronomy, Astrophysics
Jobs are listed in the American Astronomical Society Job Register (electronically or in hard copy), issued monthly to members and also posted on the association’s Web site. Meetings are usually held in winter and summer. A Job Center, set up to connect applicants and employers, is available for members and nonmembers.

American Chemical Society

www.chemistry.org; service@acs.org
Chemistry, Engineering
ChemJobs, an online database of job listings, is free to members, with no access to nonmembers. The weekly Chemical & Engineering News (C&EN) carries the same ads. National meetings are held twice a year, usually in March and August, and include the Career Resource Center.

American College of Sports Medicine

www.acsm.org
Sports Medicine
ACSM Career Services offers many career resources to students and professionals, including resume posting, and a searchable database of jobs, internships, and assistantships. Some faculty positions are listed. The ACSM annual meeting is in May or June.

American Economic Association

www.vanderbilt.edu/AEA/index.htm; aeainfo@vanderbilt.edu Economics
Job Openings for Economists, published 10 times a year, is available to members and nonmembers by subscription. The convention is held in each year and includes a placement service.

American Educational Research Association

www.aera.net
Education
Educational Researcher is published 9 times a year for members and accessible on line, at AERA’s Web site. Job openings are listed in its classified section. The convention is held in the spring. Interview facilities are made available.

American Folklore Society

www.afsnet.org
Folklore and Folklife
Appendix 1

American Historical Association
www.historians.org
History
The AHA publishes Careers for Students of History.

American Institute of Biological Sciences
www.aihs.org
Biology
Bioscience is a monthly publication, includes job listings. Jobs are also posted to the association's Web site. The annual meeting is held in March. The AIBS publishes Careers in Biology.

American Institute of Chemical Engineers
www.aiche.org
Chemical Engineering
The Institute offers an electronic job-posting service. The convention is held twice a year.

American Institute of Physics www.aip.org; aipinfo@aip.org
Astronomy, Physics
The AIP serves a federation of physical science departments. Physics Today Career Network is an online searchable jobs database and lists hundreds of job openings.

American Mathematical Society
www.ams.org; ams@ams.org
Mathematics
Notices of the American Mathematical Society is issued monthly to all members. Employment Information in the Mathematical Sciences is issued 7 times a year, extra charge for members and nonmembers. Ads can be browsed for free on Web site. The convention is held in January. The Employment Register organizes formal interviewing. The AMS publishes The Academic Job Search in Mathematics.

American Musicological Society
www.ams-net.org; ams@ams-net.org Music
AMS Newsletter is published semi-annually. The convention is held in October or November.

American Philosophical Association
www.apaclassics.org
Greek and Latin languages, literatures, and civilizations Positions for Classicists and Archaeologists is provided monthly and online. The convention is usually held in early January. Interviews are scheduled by the association. The APA publishes Careers for Classicists.

American Psychological Association
www.apa.org; convention@apa.org
Psychology
PsycCareers, APA's Online Career Center, offers an online searchable database, as well as many other career resources, and is available at http://psycareers.apa.org. The convention is held in August and includes interviewing opportunities.

American Society for Biochemistry and Molecular Biology www.asbmb.org; asbmb@asbmb.org
Biochemistry, Molecular Biology
The website lists career opportunities online, primarily faculty positions. Members receive a free subscription to the ASBMB Today, published monthly, which also lists career opportunities. The archive is available online free of charge. They also publish a career brochure, which offers advice for those pursuing an academic career. The ASBMB annual meeting is held in the spring.

American Political Science Association
www.apsanet.org; apsa@apsanet.org Government, International Relations, Political Science
Ejobs is a comprehensive online political science job database available for members. The convention begins the Thursday before Labor Day. Interviewing space is available.

American Society for Criminology
www.asc41.com
Criminology
The Employment Exchange offers both position listings and a candidate listing form, which candidates can use to post information about their qualifications and about the type of position they are seeking. The annual meeting takes place in November.

American Psychological Association
www.apa.org; convention@apa.org
Psychology
PsycCareers, APA's Online Career Center, offers an online searchable database, as well as many other career resources, and is available at http://psycareers.apa.org. The convention is held in August and includes interviewing opportunities.
American Society for Cell Biology www.ascb.org; careers@ascb.org Cell Biology
The Career Development site offers the ASCBJ0b Board, an online service for job seekers and employers, as well as several downloadable career books. Many faculty positions are listed online. The ASCB Newsletter, published monthly to members, contains career strategy articles that are also available for download. The ASCB annual meeting takes place in December.

American Society for Microbiology www.asm.org
Microbiology
ASM hosts two career information sites: www.healthecareers.com, which features some faculty jobs listings, and www.microbiologycareers.org, which includes information about their conference placement service.

American Society for Nutrition www.nutrition.org; sec@nutrition.org Nutrition
ASN lists many job positions online, primarily faculty positions. Job advertisements are also listed in Nutrition Notes, a newsletter published and distributed to the membership. It is also available by subscription to nonmembers. Current issues are posted online. The ASN meets annually at the Experimental Biology Meeting, which is held in April.

American Society for Pharmacology and Experimental Therapeutics www.aspet.org; info@aspet.org Pharmacology
ASPET lists professional opportunities on the Web site, as well as in Molecular Interactions, which is published 6 times per year and distributed to members in print or online. Most of the positions listed are faculty positions. ASPET members attend the annual Experimental Biology Meeting in April.

American Society for Public Administration www.aspanet.org; info.aspanet.org Public Administration
PublicServiceCareers.org lists professional opportunities including faculty positions. The conference is held in March and includes a job fair.

American Society of Civil Engineers www.asce.org
Civil Engineering
ASCE Career Connections on the Web site provides job listings. The conference is held in October.

American Sociological Association
www.asanet.org; executive.office@asanet.org Sociology
The ASA Job Bank is available online to members only. The convention is held in August. Employers submit job descriptions and set up interviews.

American Statistical Association
www.amstat.org; asainfo@amstat.org Statistics
AMSTAT News is available monthly to members and available to nonmembers for an additional charge. The convention is held in August. Employers and applicants preregister for placement service.

American Studies Association
www.georgetown.edu/crossroads/asainfo.htm1; asastaff@theasa.net American Studies
ASA Newsletter is available monthly online. The convention is held in the fall.

Archaeological Institute of America www.archaeological.org; aia@aia.bu.edu Archaeology, Classical Studies
The American Journal of Archaeology (AJA) is published quarterly in both print and electronic (PDF) form. The APA/AIA Placement Service offers a monthly listing of jobs, CV posting in the annual Placement Book, and interviewing facilities at the annual meeting held in January.

Association for Asian Studies www.aasianst.org; postmaster@aasianst.org
China and Inner Asia Studies, Northeast Asia Studies, South Asia Studies, Southeast Asia Studies
"Personnel Registry" provided in Asian Studies Newsletter, is issued 4 times a year to members. New listings are posted online on the first and third Monday of each month at www.aasianst.org/employment. The convention is held in the spring; candidates and employers can register and set up interviews.

Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication www.aejmc.org
Communication, Journalism
The online Employment Center lists job openings. The convention is held in August and a placement service is available.

Association for Theatre in Higher Education www.athe.org; info@athe.org Theatre
Jobs are posted on the website in the ATHE Job Bank. The annual conference is held in the spring.

Association of Collegiate Schools of Architecture www.acsa-arch.org; info@acsa-arch.org Architecture
ACSA News is issued monthly during the academic year. The annual meeting is usually held in March.

Association of Writers and Writing Programs www.awpwriter.org; joblist@awpwriter.org
English, Writing
AWP Job List is issued 7 times a year to members. Job listings are also posted on a password-protected Web site for members. A dossier mailing service is available to members only. The annual conference is held in the spring.

Biomedical Engineering Society
www.bmes.org; info@bmes.org Bioengineering
The BMES Bulletin is issued quarterly to members and is available online free of charge. In it are listed employment opportunities. Jobseekers are directed to BMEnet, www.bmenet.org, to search for job listings. The BMES annual meeting is held in the fall.

Biophysical Society
www.biophysics.org; society@biophysics.org Biophysics
The online Career Center offers several resources, including academic career listings, educational resources, mentoring, and a placement service. Many postdoctoral and some faculty positions are listed. The Biophysical Society also publishes Careers in Biophysics which is available online. The Biophysical Society annual meeting is held in February or March.

College Art Association
www.collegeart.org; nyoffice@collegeart.org Art History, Fine Arts (Studio)
The Careers section of the website includes job listings, a place for posting resumes, and sample job hunting materials. The convention is normally held in late February. Interviewing space is made available for members.

Council on Social Work Education www.cswe.org; info@cswe.org
Social Work
Job listings and other career services can be found on the Career Center Web site, careers.cswe.org. The convention is held in March.

Endocrine Society
www.endo-society.org; placement@endo-society.org Endocrinology
There is a searchable Employment Opportunities database available on the Web site, which includes academic research and faculty positions. The ENDO annual meeting is held in June.

Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology (FASEB)
http://faseb.careers.org; career@faseb.org Biomedical Sciences
FASEB advances biological science through collaborative advocacy for research policies that promote scientific progress and education and lead to improvements in human health. It currently has 21 associated societies, several of which are included in this list of associations. FASEB Career Center offers resume posting, and job postings online.

Geological Society of America www.geosociety.org; gservice@geosociety.org
Geology
GSA's Employment Service Center maintains a Web-based database for job seeking members to post career profiles. Participating employers have access to applicants' profiles customized according to the employers' specific search criteria. The convention is normally held in the fall. Space for interviewing is provided.

Gerontological Society of America www.geron.org; geron@geron.org Gerontology
The Career Center offers job listings, resume posting, and personal career management accounts, www.agework.com. The convention is held in November.

History of Science Society www.hssonline.org; infor@hssonline.org
History of Science
The Newsletter is issued quarterly to members. Employment opportunity listings are on its Web site. The convention is held in the fall, usually early November.

Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, Inc. (IEEE) www.ieee.org; ieieusa@ieee.org Electrical/Electronics Engineering

International Communication Association www.icahdq.org; icahdq@icahdq.org Communication
ICA Newsletter is issued bimonthly to members. The convention is held in late spring to midsummer.

International Society for Computational Biology www.iscb.org
Bioinformatics, Computational Biology
The Web site has a searchable database of job listings, many of which are postdoctoral and faculty positions. The annual meeting is cosponsored by the International Conference on Intelligent Systems for Molecular Biology (ISMB) and the European Conference on Computational Biology (ECCB), and is held in July.

Latin American Studies Association
lasa.international.pitt.edu; lasa@pitt.edu
Latin American Studies
Employment opportunities are posted to the Web site.

Linguistic Society of America www.lsadc.org; lsa@lsadc.org
Linguistics
Job listings on the Web site are available to members only. Convention is held in January. Announcements and vitae are collected and space is made available for interviewing.

Materials Research Society
www.mrs.org; info@mrs.org Engineering, Materials Science
MRS Bulletin includes job listings and is available to members only on the Web site. Two conventions are held: West Coast in spring, East Coast in fall. Members' benefits include the Job Placement Center at MRS meetings.

Modern Language Association of America www.mla.org; joblist@mla.org
English, Comparative Literature, Modern Languages and Literatures
The MLA is a searchable electronic database of academic job openings in depart-
Job Listing Sources and Professional Associations

Discipline Index to Major Scholarly Associations

Astronomy
American Astronomical Society

Biology
American Society of Microbiology

Chemistry
American Chemical Society

Computer Science
Association for Computing Machinery

Geology
American Geological Institute

Geosciences
American Geophysical Union

Mathematics
American Mathematical Society

Physics
American Physical Society

Scholarly associations exist for other disciplines not listed here, and disciplines listed here may additionally be served by associations not listed above.

Appendix I: Job Listing Sources and Professional Associations

Scholarly associations exist for other disciplines not listed here, and disciplines listed here may additionally be served by associations not listed above.